

ROOSEVELT DENOUNCES THE MAN WHO ASSASSINATED THE PREMIER

His Speech Is Received With Great Applause
by an Audience Crowded With Egyptians
---He Tells the People How to Fit
Themselves for Self Government

Cairo, Egypt, March 28.—Colonel Roosevelt delivered an address before the students of the University of Egypt today. He was cordially received, and at the conclusion of his remarks there was much applause. General opinion is that the speech will have a good effect on the country generally. Mr. Roosevelt, on entering the hall of the university found it crowded with Egyptians, officers, students and women who began hand-clapping the moment he appeared.

Prince Ahmed Fouad, president of the university and an uncle of the khedive, introduced Mr. Roosevelt with a brief speech in French.

Responding to the welcome, Mr. Roosevelt with a brief speech in French. Responding to the welcome, Mr. Roosevelt expressed his thanks, but said his address was intended only for the students of the university. As a man who spoke in English, he warned his audience to have nothing to do with the man who did not make his words good by his acts.

The speaker's reference to the assassination by a student last month of Boutros Pasha Ghali, premier and minister of foreign affairs, as a calamity to Egypt, and his denunciation of the assassin as a man who did not make his words good by his acts.

"No man may reach the front rank who is not intelligent and not trained with intelligence. Mere intelligence itself is worse than useless unless it is guided by an upright heart, with strength and courage behind it. Moral integrity, decency, self-respect are more important than mental subtlety. An honest, courageous and far-sighted politician is a good thing in any country where his usefulness depends chiefly upon his ability to express the wishes of the population, in which the population forms only a fragment of the leadership, and where the business man, or the land owner, the engineer, the man of technical knowledge—men of a hundred different kinds—represent the average type of leadership. No people have permanently amounted to anything whose public leaders were clerks, politicians and lawyers.

"Remember always that the securing of a substantial education, whether by a group of individuals or a people, is attained only by progress as a unit. You can no more make a man really educated by giving him a certain curriculum of studies than you can make a people fit for self-government by giving them a paper constitution. The training of an individual, in order to fit him to do good work in the world, is a matter of years and the training of a nation to fit itself so as to fulfill the duties of self-government is not a matter of a decade or two, but of a generation.

"Some foolish persons believe that the granting of a paper constitution, pretented by some high-sounding declarations, in itself confers the power of self-government. This was never so. Nobody can give a people self-government any more than it is possible to give an individual self-help. You know the old Arab proverb, 'God helps those who help themselves.' In the long run the only permanent way for the individual to be helped is to help himself. This is one of the things your university should inculcate.

"Man is slow in the growth of character. The final determining factor in the problem with a people—any people possessing of the essential qualities—is to show no haste in grasping power, which it is only too easy to misuse. The slow, steady and resolute development of these substantial qualities—love, justice, fair play, the spirit of self-reliance and moderation—alone will enable a people to govern themselves in a long, tedious and absolutely essential process. I believe your university takes an important part. Do not forget the old Arab proverb, 'God is patient, if they know how to wait.' This spirit condemns every lawless act, evil, envy and hatred, and above all hatred based on religion or race.

"All good men, all men of every nation whose respect is worth having, were inexpressibly shocked by the assassination of Boutros Pasha Ghali. It was a greater calamity to Egypt than a wrong to the individual himself. The type of man that turns assassin is the type possessing all the qualities that alienate him from good citizenship: the type producing poor soldiers in time of war and worse citizens in time of peace. Such persons stand on the pinnacle of evil and infamy. Those apologizing for, or condoning his act by word or deed, directly or indirectly, are dragging such an act in advance, or in defending it, afterward, occupy the same bad eminence. It is no consequence whether the assassin is Moslem or Christian, or with no creed or whether the crime was committed in political strife or industrial warfare. The rich man's hired act, performed by a poor man, whether committed with the pretense of observing the order of obtaining liberty, is equally abhorrent in the eyes of all decent men, and, in the long run, equally damaging to every cause the assassin professes."

Earlier in the day Mr. Roosevelt received a deputation of prominent Syrians, who wished to acknowledge the kindly attitude toward their people of the former president during his administration, and a committee of the Geography society, which received Livingston and Stanley, and wished to pay their respects to the American. The Syrians presented Mr. Roosevelt with an illuminated address on silk, written in both Arabic and English. The address was enclosed in a solid silver casket inlaid with gold, and bearing the inscription in Arabic. On the outside of the cover, inlaid with gold, was formed an olive branch entwined with Turkish and American flags.

E. J. Cunningham, Major Edgar E. Kearns, J. Alden Loring and Edmund Kell, all members of the Smithsonian scientific expedition who had remained in Gorkodro to prepare their specimens for shipment, arrived here today. They brought with them thirteen native servants, who will now return to Mombasa.

WORLD'S MARKETS

UNFAVORABLE CROP REPORTS
CAUSE STOCKS TO DROP

New York, March 28.—Business in stocks was small in volume after the three-day holiday and the price movement was sluggish. Gains predominated over declines, Hocking Coal rising 1 1/2; Consolidated Gas and Union Pacific, Pittsburg, Cincinnati, Chicago, and St. Louis, Virginia & Carolina Chemical and American Ice large fractions.

Active liquidation in Westinghouse Electric was followed by heavy selling of Coppers and other features and the whole market became weak. Westinghouse lost 1/4, Anaconda, 1 3/4; Tennessee Copper 1 3/8, and Amalgamated Copper, American Smelter, General Electric, International Paper, Wabash, and Wisconsin Central 1.

The stock market today felt the effect of an incipient crop scare. Free selling of stocks was accompanied by reports of continued unfavorable weather in the southwest to add to the damage of the severe winter.

The London holiday left the market without its usual opening initiative. The severe frost in Westinghouse Electric was an additional settling influence. The most notable declines were Anaconda and Sias-Sheffield, 2 3/4; American Smelter 1 1/4; Wells Fargo 4; St. Paul, Norfolk, and Western, Colorado Southern, Amalgamated Copper, Utah Copper, Tennessee Copper, American Sugar and Interborough Metropolitan 2; Reading 1 5/8; and Pressed Steel 1 3/4. The selling came to a pause before noon.

Bonds were easy.

YOUTHFUL BURGLAR
SHOT BY POLICEMAN

Thomas Crawford, Aged Fourteen Years, Caught in Act of Entering Residence.

Salt Lake, March 28.—Thomas Crawford, aged fourteen years, a member of a gang of boys who have been committing a series of petty burglaries in the northeast section of the city recently, was shot in the foot by Patrolman George Phillips while in the act of attempting to break into the residence of P. T. Farnsworth, 135 Sixth avenue, Sunday night, shortly after 9 o'clock.

The residence of Mr. Farnsworth has been broken into three times in the last three weeks and petty burglaries committed. Last Friday night Mr. Farnsworth notified the police and Patrolman Phillips was sent to the residence Sunday evening. The family left the house about 7:30 o'clock, leaving the patrolman in charge of the place, and the boys, knowing the family was away from home, are said to have decided to try their old game.

Patrolman Phillips endeavored to catch the parties who were trying to break into the house, but as soon as they learned of his presence they began to run away. Not knowing that they were boys, Patrolman Phillips fired at one of the fleeing figures in the darkness and young Crawford fell. His companions, three in number, escaped.

The boy was taken to the police station in the patrol wagon and his injuries were dressed at the emergency hospital by Dr. F. R. Steel. He was later removed to St. Mark's hospital. His injuries are not considered dangerous.

BURNED ALIVE

Ruth Wheeler Was Not Dead When Wolter
Set Her Afire

New York, March 28.—Spurred on by the discovery that Ruth Wheeler, the victim of the sensational murder uncovered last Saturday, was smothered and stuffed while unconscious into the fireplace of Albert Wolter's apartments and there burned to death, the authorities today continued the task of trying to develop the real motive for the crime.

After the autopsy on the body, Coroner's Physician O'Hanlon declared that traces of root in the nostrils and in the lungs convinced him the girl was still living when her body was set on fire.

Hours of questioning of the closest sort have failed to shake young Wolter in his declaration that he never had seen the Wheeler girl and knew nothing of the way in which she met her fate.

He steadfastly declines to explain the entry of Ruth Wheeler's name in his memorandum book or to account, to the satisfaction of the police, for his movements on the day when it is learned Miss Wheeler visited his rooms in answer to an advertisement for a stenographer.

Information obtained from Katie Miller, or Mueller, Wolter's companion, who was arrested yesterday, was mostly of a negative character. A fresh trail of Wolter's case, however, was struck by the authorities in a story told by a young woman who confessed to having known Wolter well. Her tale of the many young girls who she said had been associated with the prisoners set the authorities to looking up the numerous girls whose names and addresses were found in Wolter's memorandum book to see if any of them are missing.

Since the latter part of January more than fifty girls between the ages of 15 and 17 have been reported missing. All but fifteen have been accounted for.

Under a merciless gridding today Katie Mueller broke down and gave the police some startling additions to her testimony.

The police say she told of having returned to Wolter's apartment on the night Ruth Wheeler was first smothered, and at 9 o'clock, was sound asleep.

"About midnight," the report of her testimony continued, "I was awakened by a crash in the front room. I called out, 'Who's there?' and Albert answered from the front room, saying, 'Part of the fireplace has fallen down and I'm fixing it. You stay in bed.'"

"I went right back to sleep, but was awakened again about 2 o'clock by another sound, as if something was falling. Albert was down on his knees before the fireplace shoveling something with his hands back into the grate. He said the fireplace had broken down again. I said, 'Can't I help you?' and started toward him."

"He said roughly, 'Go back to bed and stay there, or I'll choke you to death.' I went back to bed and slept."

Inspector McCafferty of the detective bureau said:

"Our case is practically complete."

LIKE THE COLORS of the setting sun linger in the skies long after the day has passed, so lingers in my memory the story and song of your beautiful play. I wish every man, woman and child could see it.

ORDERS RATES ON
FLOUR BE REDUCED

Washington, March 28.—The Interstate Commerce commission today ordered the lake and rail rates of flour from Minneapolis, Minn., to New York City and the Atlantic seaboard reduced from 23 cents per hundred pounds to 21 1/2 cents, beginning May 10th.

The complainants were some forty millers, operating more than one hundred flour mills in the states of Wisconsin, Minnesota, North Dakota and South Dakota, with a daily capacity of about 125,000 barrels. The defendant carriers were all the railroads and water lines which carry flour from Minneapolis and Duluth to the Atlantic seaboard territory. The millers complained that the rate of 23 cents was unreasonable and discriminatory.

The committee reviews the gradual absorption of the Great Lakes transportation lines by the railroads, compares the difference in rates on flour and wheat, and orders the reduction to twenty-one and one-half cents.

BOREALIS
IN CHICAGO

Northern Lights Cause
Quite a Stir on Streets

Chicago, March 28.—The aurora borealis, or northern lights, made its appearance last night and caused extreme excitement among persons enjoying the spring evening.

Two officials, one now serving a term in the penitentiary for bribery, have admitted that the money was paid to have the ordinances passed.

The grand jury wants to know who are the men "higher up" in the bribe-taking and taking processes.

The bankers will be sharply examined on these facts in the district attorney's possession. It is said. It is possible that the examination of the bank officials will continue today and tomorrow.

The sermon of Rev. D. A. Green of the Manchester Presbyterian church, delivered last night, is being widely discussed today. Mr. Green suggested "grafting" councilmen be sent to do missionary work among erring souls of other cities."

At noon the two bank officials had appeared in the district attorney's office. All the bankers who are under the fire of the district attorney are understood to have promised to come forward with sworn statements by tomorrow. Some of the bankers admit that the reason they have not appeared before the district attorney today is that they have not been officially notified to do so. This fact was admitted by the district attorney.

PITTSBURG HAS A DAY FOR BANKERS

Pittsburg, March 28.—This day is known as "Bankers' day" in Pittsburg. The district attorney before tonight will have heard more than one hundred officials and employees of the six depositories tell what they know in reference to money being paid to city councilmen to obtain the passage of bank ordinances in 1908.

Forty or more councilmen have confessed that they received money for the passage of the ordinances. Two bank presidents, one now serving a term in the penitentiary for bribery, have admitted that the money was paid to have the ordinances passed.

The grand jury wants to know who are the men "higher up" in the bribe-taking and taking processes.

ENGINEER IS KNOCKED DOWN

Yonkers, N. Y., March 28.—Detectives from Upper New York and Yonkers are today seeking a party of small mischievous boys who came near being responsible for the wrecking of a crowded New York Central passenger train late yesterday. The train was making up time just south of Yonkers when the engineer and fireman noticed the kids standing on either side of the track. As the locomotive whizzed past, a number of small rocks were hurled at the flying train.

One of the missiles went through the open cab window and struck Frank Burrows, the engineer, on the head, near the temple. He toppled over, unconscious. Charles Gillespie, the fireman, heard the rock fall and rushed across the cab and seized the throttle, bringing the train to a stop just before it reached a semaphore, which indicated an open switch a few rods ahead. Burrows soon regained consciousness, and, despite his injury, would not leave his post until he had completed his trip.
